

What you can expect of Transparent Classroom in your child's classroom.

How often will I see new posts?

A child will typically be tagged in ____ posts per (time frame). Observations are entered (end of the week, end of the month, etc.) You can decide to be updated via text or email every time your child is tagged in a post or photo.

How many lessons will my child receive?

Children typically receive at least one new lesson per week. Children are taking out materials to interact and learn from them each day. Many weeks children will receive multiple lessons and some weeks children will mainly work on items that have already been presented to them.

What is available on Transparent Classroom?

Activity: Your child's homepage is where you can see all stories, new lessons, and photos of your child. They appear in the activity feed in order of date inputted. This is a great place to stay updated on your child's classroom life.

Pictures: Photos can be seen as they are connected to your child. You may download any pictures by clicking the download icon on the right, bottom corner of each photo.

Lessons: You can see where your child is in the progression of lessons. The lessons are laid out by area of the classroom. This view lets you know both where your child is and what is coming up next.